Chapter 1

The Sun, Rising Sign, North Node & Pluto

The Sun is in Sagittarius.

John Smith. You have the Sun in Sagittarius and your Sun Sign will give an indication of your general personality. However for a more complex and deeper picture of your innate potentials there are many other astrological factors that should be taken into consideration. As these are discussed, they will provide a better understanding of your innate talents, skills and vocational leaning. You enjoy challenge and adventure, rolled into one. It might take you a while to decide on your true vocation and that's because you long to get out into the big wide world to discover exactly what is on offer. Any career that involves change, movement and travel would suit you down to the ground. John Smith, you are a born leader and will do well in a position of authority. As an employee, you will be respectful of those above you, as long as they have earned that respect. You might prefer a job that will challenge your intellect. You have no time for people who are lazy or changeable in nature and you can take a tough, no-nonsense approach to your professional relationships. Rules and regulations frustrate you especially if they seem to have no reason or value and because of this you will tend to flout trivial rules. You have a great sense of humour and will do well in professions that involve interacting with other people.

The Sun is in the third house.

Selling is one of your particular skills; in fact you could sell ice to an Eskimo! You have a natural ability to persuade and to influence other people with your clever use of words. You will enjoy working with people and your profession should include plenty of change and variety. You would enjoy interviewing and personnel work as well as a career in the media. You can be restless and if your work provides you with variety and the ability to move about, so much the better.

Sun Conjunct Uranus.

You can come up with ideas no one else does. You have a scientific and inspirational mind and you are flexible in your thinking. If anyone is having problems with a task and they come to you for help, even if you have to go away and think about it, you will always return with ideas that are original and innovative. There is an independent streak to your nature and if you cannot respect authority, there could be confrontations.

Sun Semisquare Pluto.

You are serious about your goals in life. You don't expect an easy or leisurely time of it in your career and you aren't a lazy person.

Sun Sesquiquadrate Moon's North Node.

You get so annoyed with yourself at times for putting your trust in the wrong person. Emotions are a bit of a thorny issue for you as they can erupt from nowhere and disengage you from your normally sensible grip on life!

The Rising sign is Libra.

You will have a sociable personality and will be co-operative with others. People will find your company pleasant and you will prefer whenever possible to work in a harmonious and comfortable environment. You will always be careful to tell people what they want to hear but there can be a surprisingly cunning side to your nature that not everyone gets to see because this is hidden behind your smooth talk and charming manners. You are stronger than some people might think.

The Moon's North Node is in Taurus.

John Smith, the North Node in your chart suggests the way to discover your true life's journey. The most valuable lesson you might learn in your career is the value of drawing on your own talents, skills and resources in order to make a success of your career. Be confident about your skills and celebrate your talents. The more determination you put towards your goals, the more you are likely to succeed. Taurus is a patient and steady sign and this suggests that within your profession you are likely to make a slow and steady climb to the top.

The Moon's North Node is in the eighth house.

It will always be important for you to feel your career is worthwhile and you will want to know you are paid for your effort. You aren't likely to be happy putting in a lot of time without recompense. Being a little less grasping and more willing to sometimes give without counting the cost could open up a whole new professional world for you.

Pluto is in Scorpio.

Pluto was in Scorpio between the end of 1983 and 1995 being indicative of a generation who are more likely to question, research and delve rather than accept without thought. Lives during this period were transformed through changes in attitude towards sexuality, through new interests in psychic realms and spirituality such as spiritual healing.

Pluto is in the second house.

John Smith, your earning ability is likely to come through a strong business sense and you could become involved with other people's investments or research for tax, insurance companies.

Pluto Trine Midheaven.

You have extremely high standards; you will expect a lot from yourself and from others. You will be a loyal colleague and any company you work for can rely on you to keep their business secret. You will choose your friends, work mates and the causes you support with care because once you've committed yourself to anything there is no turning back.

Chapter 2

The Moon, Mercury, Venus, Neptune and Uranus

The Moon is in Aquarius.

John Smith you will dislike structure and institutional settings that rob you of your spontaneity. When work or rules are too rigid you might feel yourself objecting. Even in educational and training settings, you will resist the educational process if the atmosphere is too tense or inflexible. You learn and work best in a relaxed and flexible setting. Friends within your working environment will be good friends and you are flexible in your attitude.

The Moon is in the fourth house.

The strength and intensity of your emotions makes you a force to be reckoned with at times. You prefer the familiar, as this is more reassuring than the unknown. For this reason you will get happily settled into a profession; the working environment will be like home-from-home to you and your colleagues like an extended family. You might enjoy working behind-the-scenes. Money is important to you John Smith, and you will work hard to build the security you desire. You will invest well as your aim is to watch your finances grow.

Moon Sextile Mercury.

You're a natural-born salesperson John Smith, in that whatever you're trying to sell, whether it is an item or an idea, you will be so persuasive that you will make it hard for other people to refuse! You can be decisive when you want to be and you will be a good mediator. You have little problem delegating tasks and will support others in an effort to fulfil responsibilities within a team.

Moon Square Mars.

The intensity and depth of your emotions means it isn't always sweetness and light, because even in your working environment if there is something you aren't happy about you've just got to let other people know it. You have got quite a temper if you see unfairness going on around you. You don't like to see other people suffer, John Smith, whether you know them or not, and you try to do your utmost to help, either by drumming up support for them, lending a physical hand or donating some money to charity.

Moon Sextile Saturn.

You enjoy using your mind and your imagination. You will get a lot of pleasure from games that involve logic as well as a degree of intuition. Chess and any word games will occupy your mind during those times when you have nothing to do; you aren't likely to ever be seen sitting at your desk twiddling your thumbs and looking bored! You would however get frustrated if you weren't given enough data to work with. John Smith, you value information and facts and will always make certain that you for one, have got all your facts straight before coming to a decision.

Moon Semisquare Uranus.

At times a fear of failure holds you back but John Smith you never know whether or not you're capable of anything unless you try. Instead of convincing yourself you might not succeed, try thinking more positively and imagine what it will be like if you were to win! You are likely to be quite precise in your verbal communication and will be good at writing non-fiction.

Moon Semisextile Neptune.

You won't be keen on extended durations of conflict or stress because there is a sensitivity to your nature; upsets can be internalised and may manifest into ill health or psychological conditions. John Smith, conflicts inside might also occur when you have an innate desire to help people but you also enjoy moments alone so when the introverted side of your nature and the more outgoing side, conflict, this can get quite confusing!

Moon Square Pluto.

If and when you ever feel strongly about anything, everyone else will know about it. You won't be slow about showing your emotions. You will fight on behalf of the underdog and you will support causes and campaigns that seem worthwhile to you. Not only this but you will be almost fanatical about bringing everything to the conclusion you desire. John Smith because you are so focused on certain aims, you can be slightly selfish in forgetting the needs and feelings of your loved-ones. This isn't deliberate it's merely that you will give your all until you are satisfied. This could cause problems in your intimate relationships.

Moon Square Moon's North Node.

You will always do your best to learn from experience. If you look back on past lessons you will start to realise the benefit of positive thinking. To expect failure before you begin is likely to attract exactly that. When it comes to your career, you know you can handle responsibility and other people can trust you; it is up to you to prove this and this means you must have confidence in yourself. John Smith, you are capable of hard work and will generally have an objective outlook in professional affairs.

Moon Quincunx Midheaven.

You look forward to getting to the stage in your career where you are on your feet, established and working your way up the ladder of success.

Moon Trine Ascendant.

You feel very protective towards your fellow men, and any occupation that enhances that quality in you is bound to fill you with satisfaction and give you a sense of being able to make a valuable contribution to society. Writing, medicine, painting or any other profession that allows you to help people in a creative way is ideal for you.

Mercury is in Sagittarius.

You are serious about your views concerning religion, philosophy and law. Yours is a versatile mind; forever planning and looking towards the distant horizon. Travel brings great pleasure. You enjoy visiting foreign countries and learning about foreign cultures. There is actually a strongly restless side to your personality, which suggests that you would become quickly bored with routine. John Smith, even within your career you will need space, variety and a degree of personal freedom to be happy.

Mercury is in the second house.

In the second house, Mercury suggests an interest in money matters and business affairs. You want to know how you can make your finances work for you. Possibly, you are able to secure a pleasing income through using your mind, either in banking, accountancy, or salesmanship. Or through writing, publishing and other means of communication. John Smith, you have good bargaining powers and even in your partnerships, you will prefer to have full control of the purse strings! Also, when it comes to receiving that well-deserved raise in salary you will hedge and be a little stingy. A lot of arm-twisting and collective bargaining is needed when it comes to parting you from your money!

Mercury Conjunct Saturn.

John Smith, you are a practical and down-to-earth person. In your profession, your associates will soon get to work out they can depend on for your solid and reliable ways. Not a one to rush things, you prefer to take your time, both in your decision-making, and in the way you execute your responsibilities.

Mercury Sextile Ascendant.

John Smith you have a strong intuition, which gives you good insight and understanding into your experiences. You have a strong imagination too. You might want to utilise these talents in your career perhaps through counselling, psychology or teaching.

Venus is in Sagittarius.

You are quite forward-looking and versatile in outlook. You have your dreams and although you'll admit that some of these may be rather idealistic, you just love the idea of a world of love and equality, with no hate and no violence. This will, on the positive side, inspire you to support charitable and humanitarian causes. You are honest about what you believe in and there is nothing superficial about your nature. Your creative and artistic tastes can be rather unusual and unique. You enjoy sports such as water skiing, riding, skiing and travelling. Indeed, John Smith, Venus in this sign suggests a possibility of you marrying a foreigner or someone whose religious or philosophical beliefs will have a strong effect on your lifestyle or career.

Venus is in the third house.

John Smith, with Venus the planet of love in the sector of your chart associated with communication and short distance travel, there is a suggestion that you will devote a lot of your energy to your friendships, and your working life. A lot of your time will be taken up in letter writing, telephone calls and local travelling. This, you won't mind in the least because you get great pleasure out of feeling you can be of help to others. If ever you work with a partner, they will need to get on well with you on a mental level. Try not to waste too much effort in analysing your emotions. It's much more fun to go where the feeling takes you, rather than start wondering 'why you feel that way'. There's also the possibility that at some time in your life, you will communicate regularly to your partner through love-letters, or long-distance 'phone calls.

Venus Sextile Jupiter.

Yours is an affectionate nature with pleasing manners. Your social relationships are generally harmonious as will be your professional associations. John Smith, you know how to keep the peace. This aspect is favourable for financial and legal matters.

Venus Conjunct Uranus.

In your relationships, you need some independence. Indeed, emotional freedom is important to you. John Smith, you will hate to feel tied to or restricted by other people. You demonstrate your affections in unusual ways and, as a means of protecting your independence; you might keep yourself a little distant from others. If you have ability in art, this could be modern or original in style. Your creative and inventive talents could prove useful in your profession.

Neptune is in Capricorn.

Neptune was in Capricorn between 1984 and 2000 and indicates a period of political chaos. It has more of a cultural and social influence than a personal one. Occasional flashes of intuition could help you make progress in your career.

Neptune is in the third house.

You will take an imaginative and intuitive approach to study and mental interests although there will be times in your life when you will be easily distracted. You will enjoy travel and you are likely to express your talents in creative and imaginative ways.

Neptune Sextile Pluto.

You have a habit of being in the right place at the right time. You can trust your sixth sense and you are in touch with your spiritual side.

Neptune Opposition Midheaven.

Never be tempted to make quick decisions concerning your profession if these might affect your long-term future. Even if advice given seems sound, it could turn out that someone was deliberately misleading or deceiving you. Always approach big decisions in a logical way.

Neptune Square Ascendant.

You could miss out on some career opportunities because you might suddenly decide you don't have the experience, skills or qualifications necessary for the job. If other people think you can do it, John Smith, listen to them! Remember you don't know what you are capable of until you've tried it!

Uranus is in Sagittarius.

You have an adventuresome nature with a broad-minded outlook on life but you can sometimes be restless and inconsistent.

Uranus is in the third house.

John Smith, your education in early life may have suffered through changes, or through your inability to settle to one task for any length of time. Nonetheless, you have an original mind and you like to think in the widest terms possible. In other words, you don't enjoy having your ideas, thoughts or thinking, limited in any way.

Chapter 3

Mars

Mars is in Scorpio.

Your emotions are powerful and strong John Smith. Mars is a powerful planet and this keeps you determined and persistent. Happily, this will be in a positive way. You are able to keep a secret and this will be an asset in business. It could be that you like to keep quiet about some of your own plans too. Success often comes through knowing when to remain silent, and when to bring certain things out into the open.

Mars is in the first house.

You have a strong-willed and independent personality. This doesn't go to say you have staying power, but it will be you who chooses when to stay, and when to go on to other things. You don't like other people trying to tell you what to do. John Smith, you have wonderful powers of leadership and there is an abundance of energy to put into your professional goals. In your relationships, you can be blunt and direct in approach but you are of the general opinion that you must control your own destiny. So sitting around waiting for things to happen is just not your style.

Mars Sextile Neptune.

Neptune is a sensitive and spiritual planet and, in positive aspect with Mars in your chart, this encourages sympathy and imagination. You are probably artistic, creative and you will love to make good use of your talents in your profession. Your interests may include projects where you can put your imagination to good use, such as fashion design, architecture, photography and mysticism.

Mars Conjunct Pluto.

With Mars being so close to Pluto, this could cause some conflict within your emotional make-up. What this suggests is strong feelings that are now and again, hard to control. Another possibility is difficult working relationships at times in life perhaps through a domineering boss or a lack of basic understanding in a rather hostile workplace. At times like these you would probably do better to look for another job as staying for too long in such an atmosphere could affect your health in a negative way.

Chapter 4

Saturn, Jupiter & Your Midheaven!

Saturn is in Sagittarius.

You have a disciplined mind and you really don't mind spending long periods at a time, studying. Because of this, you should do well and achieve the qualifications you strive for. You are honest and straightforward in your communications with others. There'll be no beating about the bush, and other people always know where they stand with you. Yet although you are a popular person, you still need times to be alone. Sometimes John Smith, you might find it difficult to say why.

Saturn is in the second house.

Money is important in that it will provide the financial security, which happens mean a lot to you. You are careful when it comes to handling finances for you will work hard for your money and you probably like to save. John Smith, if you do have any worries or anxieties, then these could include a general fear of poverty. This encourages you to be even more careful with your personal resources.

Saturn Sextile Ascendant.

John Smith, you love hearing about other people's lives and opinions and make a very good listener. People find you sensitive and your advice is usually sensible and practical. You can also be entertaining company and there is always something entertaining and interesting in your anecdotes and conversations. This will make you popular in your workplace.

Jupiter is in Aquarius.

Although quite independent of nature, you have the superb ability to involve others in group work, whether towards charitable goals, or in your professional work. People will be attracted to your original and quite ingenious ideas, although sometimes these might not always be altogether practical. John Smith, you too need to realise this.

Jupiter is in the fifth house.

You are able to express yourself in an outgoing fashion, through a love of adventure, sports and taking risks. You know how to enjoy life to the full and you can be quite lucky. No doubt John Smith, you have a reputation of always being able to 'land on your feet'! You can be creative and imaginative and you will get on well with children.

Jupiter Sextile Uranus.

You are thoughtful and independent in nature. - Perhaps a little too idealistic, but we all of us have our dreams!

The Midheaven is in Cancer.

With Cancer at your Midheaven, your main wish is to find a profession you enjoy. You don't want your work just to be 'work', you want to feel inspired and interested in what you do. Some vocations that might suit you are: Catering, Historical research, Child Care, Museum Curator, Librarian, Nursing, Catering, Domestic Industry.
